HALTOM SUE FOR TEARING OUT PIER

Mrs. Hattie Mosher and William H. Lount are plaintiffs in the $4,000 damage suit begun in the superior court yesterday against U. S. R. S. Engineer Arthur J. Haltom. The action was brought on account of Haltom tearing out cement piers built by the plaintiffs on Central avenue and Van Buren street, and on what they allege is their property.

The piers were to be used as the foundation of a building and they contend that they were built in a "mud hole." It is understood that the defense will be that the "mud hole" was on government property, the canal being an easement right of the United States.

Haltom removed the piers by orders of the reclamation service, with which he is connected. J. B. Woodward and Alice M. Birdsell represent the plaintiffs and E. E. Roddis, chief counsel of the reclamation service, with headquarters at Denver, and R. W. Kramer, assistant United States attorney.

GARDEN SETTING FOR MARRIAGE CEREMONY

Miss Elsie Munger and Fred Gregg Wed at "Olivette," Home of Bride's Mother

In the beautiful gardens of "Olivette," the country home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Laura B. Munger, the wedding of Miss Elsie Lillian Munger and Fred J. Gregg took place at six o'clock yesterday afternoon.

No more attractive scene could have been imagined than the ideal spot chosen for the ceremony. A large pepper tree formed the bridal bower that was given an added touch of beauty in the rose vines that completely cut the view from any other section of the garden. The vines were covered in tiny pink rose buds, the natural decoration surpassed any florist's artistry. It was extremely simple for all the profusion of bloom and extremely lovely.

The bride who was unattended wore a becoming frock of white net. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Reverend George A. Varney of the Baptist church read the service in the presence of the immediate relatives, who were the only guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregg will take up their residence immediately at Mr. Gregg's country place on Oleander road. They will be formally at home after May 1.

Mrs. Gregg is one of the best liked young women in Phoenix. She is attractive of appearance and has a sweet, winning manner that has endeared her to a legion of friends.

Mr. Gregg is the son of Mrs. John B. Gregg, and his sisters are Miss Jane Gregg, Miss Mabel Gregg and Miss Laura Gregg. The family has lived here for a number of years and has large ranch holdings in the valley.

BIG TAX PAYMENT BY ARIZONA EASTERN

$24,000 was received in a lump sum by County Treasurer George A. McDonald yesterday from the Arizona Eastern Railroad. This was the largest sum received from any one corporation up to date on taxes now due. "People do not seem to realize that taxes will go delinquent the first of May," said Mr. McDonald. "The money is coming in but not like it should be and later there will be a long line waiting in turn for their receipts. It is difficult for the office force to handle the crowds the last few days. The payments must be made, why put off the final day?"

RICHEY MAY TIE CORPSTEIN'S HANDS

Commissioner O. T. Richey at an adjourned meeting of the city commission yesterday afternoon raised a contention that, if sustained, would as effectually tie the hands of Commissioner Corpstein when he assumes the office of mayor next month, as Mr. Richey would tie the hands of Mayor George E. Young in the latter days of his incumbency. That the mayor has not the power of veto and that he must approve and attach his signature to any ordinance or resolution adopted by the commission, even though he may have voted negatively, was advanced by Commissioner Richey as his opinion. He insists that this be brought to issue even if it becomes necessary to carry the matter to the courts for adjudication. And as Mayor Young holds that the power of veto is his prerogative and that he cannot be compelled to attach his signature to any document unless he so desires, Commissioner Richey declares he will "show him."

With the glow of the pyrotechnical display of the day before, when Commissioner Richey, aided by Commissioner Corpstein and Cope, overrode the objections of Mayor Young and Commissioner Maclean to the ousting of Auditor Cooper and the consolidation of the office of city clerk and city magistrate, still in evidence, Commissioner Richey yesterday forced a vote on a motion directing the city clerk to attest the ordinance and resolution voted by Mayor Young. This motion carried. It was the apparent belief of Commissioner Richey that this course would come as near correcting any irregularity because of the absence of the signature of the mayor, as any other step that might be taken outside of the superior court.

The ordinance he had in mind was that consolidating the office of the city clerk and city magistrate, making the city clerk ex-officio city magistrate and fixing the salary of the joint office at $2,400 yearly. The resolution was that removing City Auditor Cooper to whose position the commission has already appointed W. H. Plunkett a salary of $1,500 per year.

Mayor Young addressed the commission at some length assuring that body that none of his actions while mayor had been taken because of personal feeling and that any man who charged that he had been guided by personal feeling in the exercise of his power was a liar. He said that under the charter the mayor had the right to veto every action of the commission and that no action of the commission could be taken without resolution of ordinance.

When the meeting convened a committee reported that it had visited the home of Mrs. Luke on East Washington street next to which an objectionable bill board had been erected. They announced that they knew of no way in which they could offer relief to Mrs. Luke although all agreed that it must be annoying to have the big sign in such close proximity to a person's home.

Ordinances were adopted and resolutions of intention approved for the paving of Roosevelt street from Central avenue to Seventh street, Fourth street from Washington street to Roosevelt street, Portland street from Third avenue to Seventh avenue, Fifth avenue from Roosevelt street to Portland street and portions of Second avenue, Roosevelt and McKinley streets. The reading of these ordinances and resolutions occupied more than two hours.

Adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon when further paving matters will be taken up. It is expected that the matter of the paving of Central avenue from the North line of the Simms addition to the McDowell road will be disposed of at today's meeting.

AN OVERSIGHT IN BURTON BIDS

The committee for the reception of former United States Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio was guilty of an oversight in sending out invitations to the vice presidents of the meeting on Friday afternoon, in that wives or sweethearts of the vice presidents were not included in the invitation. That omission is hereby corrected at the request of the committee and it is suggested by one of the members that room on the platform among the vice presidents

Senator Burton, and their wives might be made for some of the single ladies of Phoenix for be it known that the senator is a bachelor. For a Phoenix girl to become a possible first lady of the land is something to think about.

Senator Burton was at Las Cruces, New Mexico last night and he will arrive in Tucson sometime today. He will reach Phoenix about eleven o'clock tomorrow. A request has come from the students of the Terrell Normal School for a short address there and Frank R. Stewart who has charge of the senator's itinerary in this state is trying to arrange a short stop there on the way to Phoenix.

Senator Burton will be the guest of the Rotary club at a luncheon at noon tomorrow. His address at the V. M. C. A. stadium at 5 o'clock in the afternoon will be under the auspices of the Arizona Republican club. The committee is assured of a large attendance.

George B. Adams of Los Angeles, one of the leading orators of California who is now in the city will also probably address the meeting.

Amusements Today

May Howard at Amuzu
May Howard, known on many vaudeville circuits as a mind reader and spirit cabinet worker is at the Amuzu again tonight in an hour's performance. She will introduce the spirit cabinet with floating musical instruments, unseen hands playing sweet music, tables will rise in the air and float around the well lighted stage in full view of the audience. Many other wonderful tricks and so-called spirit manifestations will be submitted by the clever lady and her husband. The act starts promptly at 8:15 and runs one hour.

"Soul Market" at Columbia
"Truth in advertising" says the greatest picture exhibitor in New York City, "is going to be the key note of the success of the man who sticks to the facts. There is no use raving over that which you know to be just fact. No use heralding each succeeding picture as greatest, best, ever, her crowning achievement, his master piece, when one knows that the offering is not a whit better than many that have gone before."

All of which leads to the fact that Petrova at the Columbia has a vehicle that the press agent might rave over and be amply justified. The "Soul Market" is a splendid picture. Not the greatest picture ever made, but one so well screened and so well acted as to distinguish it, even in this day of good pictures. Petrova is splendidly cast and her support and the lavish staging fight for the place of honor next the star. Not content with the "Soul Market," which would be enough for any bill, the management has added several hundred feet of the Corona road race. Set a gruesome, bloody sight of a man meeting death, but the actual running of the great race, showing the cars tearing off mile after mile so fast one can scarce see them pass the camera. Burman's wrecked car and the driver himself are shown. Burman poses before the camera just previous to his last lap.

Mary Pickford at the Arizona Tonight Only
"The Foundling," in which America's sweetheart, Mary Pickford is being starred at the Arizona for the past two nights and which will be repeated tonight for the last time, has proved to be the best picture Miss Pickford has appeared in since the days when "Tess of the Storm Country" was received as one of America's greatest silent drama.

USE GAS

GAS RANGES
$12.25 UP

GAS PLATES
$2.00 UP

Don't torture yourself this summer, working over a red hot cook stove—Use Gas.

Gas gives a quick concentrated heat, confined to the articles you are cooking; there is not a lot of wasted heat to radiate all over the house and make it unbearably hot.

Use Gas—It Means Convenience and Comfort.

WE INSTALL

Piping from Street Main to the Meter---FREE!

Provided the distance is not over 100 feet

This is a plan not generally practiced by Gas Companies in other cities, but one that is a part of the service this company regularly offers to those who want the convenience and comfort of Gas and whose houses are not already connected with our mains.

HERE IS OUR PLAN—We will lay the piping from our nearest main to your house and install a meter, free of charge, provided the piping necessary is not more than 100 feet. In case it is more than 100 feet, a small charge is made for the actual cost of the additional labor and material. The piping inside your house costs very little.

Make your plans now—Have Gas installed at once and be ready for the hot weather that will soon be here.

We will gladly send one of our men to talk it over with you.
